Black Ball Boogie

Black Ball Boogie is a project that delivers a true Rock 'n' Roll experience: a breathtaking show born from a meticulous selection of songs from the '40s and '50s, rearranged with fresh and vibrant energy, original tracks in Italian, themed outfits, and a captivating stage presence.

Bio

Black Ball Boogie is an Italian Rock 'n' Roll and Boogie Woogie band formed in 2016 through the collaboration of Manuel Goretti (piano and vocals), Luciano Sibona (double bass and vocals), Filippo Lambertucci (drums and vocals), and Virginia Picciché (vocals).

In 2021, they were selected as ambassadors for SISLEY's "Spring Summer 2021 Campaign," appearing in the official video with their debut single, Maledizione.

In 2021, the Black Ball Boogie met Bobby Solo, with whom they share a love for American music, recording a six-track vinyl featuring songs reinterpreted in their own unique style. In 2023, they released their first original album in Italian, Hey dove vai!, which includes eight tracks inspired by Fred Buscaglione and Renato Carosone. They embarked on a tour that took them to the Jinju Jazz Festival in South Korea (December 2023), as well as to Germany, Catalonia, and Poland. They have performed on the stages of Italy's most prestigious venues, including Cantina Bentivoglio in Bologna, Cantine dell'Arena in Verona, and Darsena del Sale in Cervia.
